WILL IT TAKE A MILITARY DISASTER?

At a meeting in Washington, organized by Colonel John F. Wall, this Spring, of men who are thoroughly familiar with the unfortunate position our soldiers have been placed in the past for the lack of sufficient pack and cavalry animals, a movement was started to secure at least one cavalry division. Fighting in Italy, in Sicily, and now in Korea has emphasized repeatedly that the horse is not outmoded and that often sure-footed animals are necessary to, ironically enough, bring to the front lines even the gasoline and oil necessary to operate jeeps and other mechanized equipment.

As a result of this meeting, a chairman, co-chairman and vice-chairman have been chosen who will push this important adjunct to our armed forces through the necessary channels and over the apparent opposition of infantry, air and other branches who, with no training in cavalry, often tend to over emphasize the importance of their respective branches. Frank Hampton has been selected as chairman to be assisted as co-chairman by General J. K. Herr, former chief of cavalry and Colonel Emil Engle, vice-chairman. Frank Hampton is a grand nephew of the celebrated Wade Hampton of cavalry fame in the days when our cavalry was inferior to none in the world. He is intensely interested in horses. His belief in the cavalry and the good it can still do to assist the efforts of our soldiers is sincere and backed by solid evidence from the opinion of such generals as the late General Patton, General Truscott, General Gay and many others. He believes, and has stated that the program is so important "It must go to the people."

The objectives of this group are: 1. One cavalry division, approximately 15,000 horses; ten especially selected R.O.T.C. Units of 100 horses each and West Point to maintain 250 horses and 5 pack and mule companies; ten selected National Guard Units with a total of no less than 1,000 horses, some of which would be used as pack animals. Finally there should be 100 companies of mule pack trains with 10,000 mules.

This is a nation of gasoline conscious people who go everywhere on wheels. In pictures, in publicity articles, in the movies they have seen and read glowing accounts of the mobility of tanks and jeeps. As motorists, however, they have sometimes been halted dead in their tracks by road repairs, a bridge washed out, a road barricade. Do they go over it? No, they stop, turn around and go back. What happens to the army's mechanized equipment when an enemy on roads completely surrounded by mountains, with a gorge on one side, a cliff on the other, decides to blow up the road? Motorists know as well as some of our army executives. They sit down and wait for the engineers to repair the bridges, remove the road-blocks. It sometimes takes months.

Enemies fighting this country are smart. Knowing full well our complete dependence on mechanized equipment, they devise every known means to put us at a disadvantage, stall the equipment. Once our vehicles are stopped, the army stops. Those who have fought in World War II and in the Korean War know that first of all, terrain is seldom of our choosing. So long as we must fight in the mountains, mechanized equipment is not as mobile as pack and cavalry units. This was proven repeatedly and it is not pure coincidence that our fighting has had so often to be done in rough territory. Our enemies see to that.

Fortunately this program is not without help in high places. Chairman Vinson of the House Committee on Armed Services went to Korea last year. In a letter to Major General Herr, Ret., he writes: "Certainly the thought has occurred to me that the day of cavalry has not passed as I witnessed the activities of the Reds in Korea and saw the grave difficulties of the army in the opening days of the war in trying to operate off roads with their mechanized equipment..."

Experience is a harsh teacher and as Chairman Vinson points out in closing his letter to General Herr, it is to be profoundly hoped it will not take a military disaster or extended loss of American casualties to demonstrate this need for horses. The American public is so acutely conscious of the importance of good roads it should not be very difficult to convince them of the value of horse equipment if these self same roads were destroyed. What motorist would attempt to ascend Mt. Washington without a highway? Who would drive up Pikes Peak if the road was destroyed? What if they were asked to cross the Grand Canyon? Would they drive down and up again in a jeep or tank? Say they had 1,000 rounds of ammunition, a machine gun and a case of K rations that meant their life if left behind. Could they carry it all on foot? The public knows the answer, or do they have to go to Korea, Italy or Sicily to have it proven to them? Americans need only to be told the truth. The horse is still a highly useful adjunct to modern warfare. For a final answer ask the Russian, Chinese or our late adversaries, the Germans. They fought as efficiently and often more efficiently by using thousands of horses.

Early Spa Work-Outs By Vaughn Flannery In N. Y. Exhibition

Vaughn Flannery stands alone among sporting artists today in this country as the foremost impressionist in the field. His picture on the cover of The Chronicle this week is another example of the interesting, imaginative style of this Maryland painter who has been a horseman all of his life. None but a thoroughly knowledgeable horseman could have captured this behind the scenes picture of Saratoga which to many horsemen is the best part of the whole racing scene currently going on at the famous old Spa.

Early morning work-outs, means coffee and breakfast at the track. Those who take the trouble to rise with the sun will be amply rewarded with an intimate picture of racing they will not find at any other time. Around the stable yard pet fighting cocks crow lustily, a goat, a small donkey and some favored dogs sniff the morning air.

In the early sunlight horses with exercise boys are already walking toward the track. Others are tacking up while from every stall comes the friendly, pleasant sounds of horses breakfasting on good hay and oats. Boys are strapping gleaming coats, nickers fill the air as horses greet each other and their stable boys.

Crossing the road to the track you see a trainer or two seated in the grandstand or walking along behind the row of boxes. Suddenly the beat of hooves commands the attention of stay lookers-on. A figure by the rail presses down on his watch, a trainer watches idly as the horse gallops past with his work boy perched high on the saddle, his cap turned back to front, his cowboy boots thrust home in the irons. He stands in his stirrups as he eases his horse down to a jog and disappears around the far turn.

As the works go on, more early risers saunter into the stand and make their way to the cafeteria to sit down to eggs and coffee with Stevens. This picture of Mr. Flannery's was included in the exhibition entitled American Painting 1950 at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is the first exhibition of its kind at the Museum and plans are being made to make it an annual affair. Paintings from all over the country were first selected by regional juries following which they went to the national jury in New York for final selection. Less than 1 painting in 10 was accepted. The Flannery picture depicts the first floor dining room at the Saratoga Club House where trainers so often watch their morning workouts.

County Delight Concedes Weight To All In Winning Merchants' and Citizens' 'Cap

Joe H. Palmer

In the fear that its customers may take it for granted, without realizing the quality of the racing that is being given them, the New York circuit puts its horseplayers on a starvation diet between Aqueduct and Saratoga. Several years ago, in the last year that Matt Winn was temporarily in charge of the Empire City meeting, the unimportant Demoiselle and East View Stakes were given a $25,000 endowment and put under futurity conditions, and it seemed that the New York circuit had devised a foil for the Arlington Futurity and Lassie Stakes, so that a stable with a good 2-year-old had some excuse for staying at home.

With the shifting of dates, which this year left Empire City with only six days in the summer, both of these events have been moved to the fall, when they are not urgently needed, and the mid-summer period had been surrendered to Chicago without even the honors of war. There was always a tendency for the leading stables to move to Saratoga a couple of weeks early, for a brief rest, and this was not arrested when Saratoga moved downstate for two weeks. It is becoming more and more accentuated, now that there's so little for a good horse to do in late July in New York. It used to be that good races wouldn't fill well, because the good horses were away. This year the moderate races wouldn't fill well either, and selling platters were the order of most days, though not always in claiming races.

I suspect this is not altogether accidental Jack Campbell in addition to carding some of the best programs, also likes an excuse occasionally to card some of the worst, more or less deliberately to let the little stables and the poorer horses have a chance to pick up a purse or two. This may be humanitarian, but it isn't interesting. It's a good deal like eating a piece of rubber chicken and a slice of frozen corn starch for $5 on the grounds that the money goes to the boy scouts. I'd rather send the money and eat somewhere else. I guess the New York horseplayers wouldn't send their money, so three weeks of dull racing seem unescapable. The customers now have four weeks without any racing at all, so I suppose they'll be properly whetted when Aqueduct opens again September 3.

There is, by the way, a fiction that New York players go to New Jersey during Saratoga. This may be true of a few hundred, but not of any significant number. This year, with the books in what you might call chiaroscuro, maybe they'll save their money and be ready to give Aqueduct an unusual fall meeting.

The customers on the final day got a very interesting race in the Merchant's and Citizens' Handicap, one of the old Saratoga fixtures which was brought downstate and has, to some extent, suffered for the change. Essentially it was a question as to whether any one of nine horses, with the assistance of Mr. Campbell's pencil, could beat County Delight, and as it turned out they couldn't. The Count Fleet colt (practically all winners are by Count Fleet this year) ran six furlongs, and then Eric Guerin sent him up outside. Despite the loss of ground—and it must have been five or six lengths—he had no great trouble beating Mandingo, the only 3-year-old in the race, by a length and a half. The winner was driving, but he could have beaten a little more. County Delight had 123 pounds, to 102 on the 3-year-old, a concession of thirteen pounds by the scale, and he gave from eight to twenty-three pounds to the others. The only others which showed anything were Assignment, which made the pace for a mile and then tired to fourth, and Lights Up, which ran strongly at the end after it was too late. He had some trouble getting clear for the drive.

County Delight was bred by Mrs. John D. Hertz, and was foaled at Stoner Creek Farm on March 20, 1947. In the Keeneland sales of the following year Paul Mellon bought him for $32,000. At the end of two seasons of racing there was no reason to think he had got his money's worth, for County Delight had won two minor races, had placed in two stakes, and had earned $13,850. When he came out for the Widener Handicap last winter he had, and deserved, only 102 pounds. But this year he has won five races, including the Dixie, the Gallant Fox, and now the Merchants' and Citizens', and for the year his take is $122,685. In all it's $136,585. County Delight has been exasperatingly close to a lot more money, having been second in one stakes and third in five others, including the $100,000 Arlington Handicap and the historic Suburban. By any reasonable figuring, he's improved more than twenty pounds since he started his 1951 campaign last winter, and that's quite a way to go.

At all events, the days on the concrete at Jamaica are over, and now comes the grassy paddock at Saratoga. This happens every year, but so does spring. Both deserve considerable notice.

FIRST and ONLY COLT
BY

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR

Out of a SICKLE mare whose dam was NIPISQUIT, the third dam of HOW. To be sold at Saratoga Yearling Sales, Thursday, August 16, 1951. Consigned by Jack Skinner, Middleburg, Virginia.

Saratoga's two weeks at hard labor did not get a very promising beginning, when the first Saturday was almost rained into nothing, with a crowd of only 19,000 out. But the second Saturday, blessed with perfect weather, drew more than twice as many, and beat the corresponding Saturday in 1950 by nearly 7,000. The result was that the total attendance was up. The gain was only two per cent, but it was in the right direction. Numerically, the gain was about 6000, which means added revenue of perhaps $12,000 to the association. The betting was up by about $2,000,000. This means that the gross revenue was up by about $100,000. The higher purse minimum will take up nearly half of this, but anyway you figure it, Saratoga goes to Saratoga in considerably better financial shape than it did last year. The notion here is that the upstate meeting will show a considerable gain, too, because of the crack-down on off-course gambling there.

Retirement of Noble Hero Adds More Lustre To Florida's Thoroughbred Industry

Karl Koontz

NOBLE HERO IN ACTION.

Twenty-six thousand dollars purchased for C. S. Jones the racing potentialities and future broodmare qualifications of the brown filly by the imported racer Rico Monte, out of one of Man o'War's best producing daughters, Boat.

Another of this famous mare's produce is Noble Hero, a 6-year-old son of *Heliopolis, now standing at Carl G. Rose's Rosemere Farm, Ocala, Florida. This bay stallion, from the distaff line of Ace Admiral, Fleet Rings, Cosmic Bomb, Pilate, Banish Fear and Black Majesty, was a stakes winner of some $56,065.

All of the produce of Boat to enter competition have been winners or stakes winners (Sky Ship, a 2-year-old, is a non-starter to the close of June).

Boat's first foal to enter the "gilded square" was the *Bull Dog colt Tyvlyn in 1942, whose appearance commanded a response of $1,000, thus distinguishing himself by being the lowest priced colt by that stallion sold at the auctions that year. Even that sum, small though it was for such a well bred colt, was never returned, as the youngster did not make an appearance on the turf.

Her next foal was the Trace Call mare, Rampart, which was purchased privately and never entered the sales ring. This mare, after several years of "readying herself", was finally able to turn back such sterling horses as *Miss Grillo, Harmonica, and the world's leading money winning gelding, Armed.

Then along came Boat Man, which also eluded the "poundings of the hammer" and started racing with John Marsch as owner. 1945 found Boat right back at the old stand, being represented by the full sister to Boat Man, Pinnacle, by Roman, which left the ring with the tune of $11,000 echoing over the gathering.

Noble Hero put in his arrival in time for the sales of 1946, and returned his breeder $15,000; while in 1948 his full brother, Greek Ship, by *Heliopolis, captivated pocket-books to the extent of $23,000, to make him the most sought-after son of *Heliopolis in the sales that year. He will be remembered for handing defeats to older horses such as Palestinian, Double Brady, Three Rings, Adile, Better Self and others.

Boat's foal of 1948, Jerry Nash, by Eternal Bull, started off his racing career for Mrs. E. Denmark, having escaped the "bright lights and excited bidding". Boat's last representative, until this *Rico Monte miss came along, was Sky Ship by Teddy's Comet, which struck a responsive cord in buyers and was bought for $25,000.

Getting back to Noble Hero, the hero of this piece, he made his first stakes attempt in the 1947 running of the Juvenile Stakes at Belmont Park on May 17. My Request, Royal Blood, Witch Hunt, Andys Glory, Word of Honor, and Quickset proved too much for him, as he beat only Eternal Lark over the Widener straight course in the 5-8 mile dash. This was Noble Hero's last attempt at stakes brackets as a 2-year-old, but he did earn his oats by winning 3, placing in 3, and taking a 4th.

But at 3 it was a different story. In the 1-4 mile Choice Stakes he lasted to win from First Nighter with Faraway and Big If securing the other name positions. In the Lawrence Realization of 1948, Ace Admiral won by a neck from Noble Hero. The chart credits Noble Hero's race this way, "...kept in a forward position from the start, moved up on the outside for the stretch run and closed with determination." In this 1-5-8 mile test such horses as Shy Guy, Rose Beam, Vulcan's Forge, Loser Weeper, and Free America were in his dust.

Ace Admiral's dam War Flower is a full sister to Boat, dam of Noble Hero, and as both Ace Admiral and Noble Hero are by *Heliopolis, these two colts are brothers in blood.

In the Empire Handicap over the distance of 1-3-16 miles Noble Hero "...was outrun in the early stages, improved his position on the inside turning for home and finished fast" taking 3rd place. He was now wise disgraced as up the track came Better Self, Loser Weeper, Ace Admiral, Three Rings, and Faraway. Also to his credit were several other stakes placing that year.

Noble Hero appears to have all the qualifications for a first rate sire, possessing a faultless pedigree as well as displaying plenty of "foot" while on the race course. He comes from a stout female line and his sire *Heliopolis and his grand-sire Man o'War, have both led the leading American sire list; Man o'War in 1926; *Heliopolis in 1950. With suitable matings, how can Noble Hero fail in the stud?

Keeneland Summer Sales Report

Mereworth Farm's Bull Lea Filly Tops
Sale At $60,000, Highest Price Ever Paid For Filly At Auction Sales

Arnold Shrimpton

The tumult and the shouting of George Swinebroad and Doc Bond having died, until next October, the Captains and the Kings of Industry having departed, I can now, more or less, relax and give you some sort of coherent picture of the Keeneland Summer Sales.

I suppose one of the most annoying propensities of homo sapiens is his everlasting and constant desire to justify himself in the eyes of his fellow men, particularly in the matter of prophesy. Running true to form as an average turf scribe, I cannot help scrambling atop of my little dung-hill of conceit and crowing "what did I tell you?" for, when the last figure and statistic had been wrung out and compounded, at about 6:30 on Thursday evening the following facts emerged:

The entire sale was up 37 per cent over last year; an American record price for a filly had been established; the overall average per yearling was $8,237; the total sum of $3,195,900 had changed hands; that this figure represented the second best in the history of the Breeders' Sales Company; that 41 of the 388 youngsters sold brought $20,000 and over, apiece; that Louis B. Mayer alone spent over a quarter-of-a-million to obtain 5 fillies and 8 colts; that there was not a single resale throughout the 4-day cry; that Count Fleet emerged as the leading sire of the vendue; and that this Keeneland Summer Sale will always be remembered by those who saw it as "The Great Western Invasion".

Texan ten-gallon hats and Californian sports wear and tans, were far more in evidence than Kentucky shoe-string ties and Eastern States' sartorial perfection. As Mr. Mayer himself put it, with almost Goldwynesque naivete, "every time I'd open my mouth to bid, I'd turn around and there was someone else from California bidding against me!". Indeed, over $800,000 worth of Golden State ducats were left behind in Lexington. Directly any top yearling was led into the ring, a general Western gold-rush to buy it developed at once, and towards the latter part of the sale, George Swinebroad, who is never at a loss for the apt phrase, would shout "Baby you're off to California in the morning", as he pounded his gavel on the final bid.

Wednesday afternoon saw the zenith of the sale when the bay filly by Bull Lea—Lady Lark, she by Blue Larkspur (thus making her a full sister to Twilight Tear) from the consignment of Walter J. Salmon's Mereworth Farm, was knocked down to C. S. Jones of Long Beach, California for the fabulous figure of $60,000. The opening bid was one of $20,000, and as this was announced, the sales pavilion started to fill up. You could immediately sense the drama of the situation that was about to develop. Up to $47,000 it was a two-way duel between E. Barry Ryan and C. S. Jones, and just as it looked as if the latter was going to get the filly at that figure, there was a flurry of excitement in the center of the arena as the spotter shouted "$50,000" on behalf of Eugene Constantin, Jr., of Texas. Here it was that George Swinebroad paused and took breath and when he resumed his chant again, his voice had taken on that extra special sing-song intonation that he reserves exclusively for bids of over $50,000. Sure enough, back came Mr. Jones with $50,500, only to be topped by Mr. Constantin with a bid of $52,000 and the excitement of this hardly died away when in came Mr. Louis B. Mayer with a $54,000 offer.

George Swinebroad was now in his element, and within a minute he had wheedled and cajoled another thousand from Mr. Constantin, whose face plainly showed the nervous tension he was under. This occasioned a hurried consultation between the Jones and Mayer camps, and it could be plainly seen that Mr. Mayer agreed to drop out of contention from that point on. Back came Mr. Jones with "$55,500" and the bidding seesawed back and forth in $500 raises, until Mr. Constantin said "$58,000". At this point I happened to take my eyes off the two principals and look over at Walter Salmon the consignee. He is a man who very rarely smiles (in fact, very few millionaires can afford that facial luxury), so that it was something of a shock to me to see an almost Cheshire Cat grin on his face that looked as though it was going to chop his ears off. However, if Mr. Salmon was enjoying himself, the same could not be said of either Messrs. Jones or Constantin, who were very much "sweating-it-out" the hard way.

It was up to the Californian at this stage, and after considerable parlay with his wife (who maintained a complete poker face throughout the auction) as well as the spotter, who was now sitting right alongside him Mr. Jones said something to the latter, who then jumped to his feet and with a sweeping and final gesture of both hands shouted "Sixty Thousand Dollars and that's the lot." At that something like a Roman Forum roar went up throughout the pavilion. Immediately Auctioneer Swinebroad concentrated his entire attention on Mr. Constantin, but no matter how he pleaded and coaxed, the Texan vigorously shook his head. Finally, George came up with one of those little humorous cracks, which has done so much to make him the finest auctioneer in the horse industry. Said he, "Mr. Constantin, look me in the face and tell me you don't want this filly and I'll sell her." Sure enough, the under bidder looked him square in the eye and shook his head, whereupon the auctioneer said "Well, then, Sir, thank you very much, but for a man who doesn't want this horse, I can only say you sure have done a helluva lot of bidding!" The crowd roared with laughter, and a moment later, down came the gavel with the stentorian cry of "Sold for Sixty Thousand Dollars."

The spectators broke into a spontaneous round of applause, and Mr. Jones looked as though he wanted to kiss his wife and didn't know how to go about it, while the general temperature of the sales pavilion dropped at least ten degrees. It was all over, and a new American sales record for a yearling filly was in the books. In all, this tense little drama had taken but 18 minutes to be enacted.

Also among the high-lights of the 4-day session was the $42,000 paid by Humphrey S. Finney, (acting as agent) for the War Admiral—Myrtlewood bay colt that I told you so much about when writing of the Leslie Combs consignment. Mr. Finney was not at liberty to divulge the identity of his client, so, of course, I, too, must respect his instructions. However, no harm can come from whetting your curiosity by telling you that it was a Chronicle reader who acquired the last of the Myrtlewoods.

The second highest price for the Spendthrift Farm youngsters was the $40,000 that Mr. Mayer gave for the Bimelech—Durazna colt. While Horatio Luro paid $17,500 for the War Admiral—Distaff filly, for which he refused a nice fat profit on the last day of the sale. In all, the Combs consignment of 17, belonging to both father and son, fetched a total of $269,600 for an average of $15,823 per head, which only goes to show that:

"He who whispers down a well
About the goods he has to sell,
Will never reap as many dollars
As he who shows them off and hollers".

That may not be Shakespeare (as a matter of fact it was said by the Duke of Windsor when he was the Prince of Wales, while making a speech on American Advertising) but it may well be attributed to The Master of Spendthrift Farm.

Also, as predicted in this column, Claiborne Farm had an excellent sale. Its 20 colts (one of them owned in partnership) brought a total of $221,800 for an average of $11,090. Top price was the Count Fleet—Black Wave colt that was sold for $36,000, again to Louis B. Mayer. This was the Claiborne—Nydrrie partnership yearling referred to above, which is, of course, a half-brother to Jet Pilot. Their Count Fleet—Lost Horizon sold to W. G. Loew for $35,500 while the *Princequillo—Jackie Cochran changed hands for $28,000 and was purchased by the newly formed racing partnership of Messrs. Allison and Prestidge from California.

Mrs. John D. Hertz also had a most successful sale, her dozen yearlings averaging $16,175 apiece. The star of her consignment turned out to be the red roan colt by *Mahmoud—Risque Reigh, by Reigh Count, which brought an even $33,000 on the bid of Mr. Mayer.

Yet another which sold well was the brown filly by Roman—Tattle Tale, by Questionnaire, which was consigned by Patrick Calhoun, Jr. of Louisville. Mr. Calhoun is a comparative newcomer to the ranks of commercial breeders and the industry can do with more like him and his charming wife. The filly he sold was a perfect picture of what a Summer Sales yearling should look like, and she found a new home with Mr. Mayer for the sum of $20,000. After she had been knocked down to the movie magnate, I went across to congratulate Mr. Calhoun, and his wife told me "I'm so glad it's over, Mr. Shrimpton. We both got so excited and every time the bidding went up a thousand, Patrick would pinch me and I'm black and blue all down one side—but, I'm so happy". So are your friends, Mr. Calhoun, and please come back to Keeneland with more yearlings like that one, you will always be welcome.

Mention must also be made of Philip Connors, whose chestnut colt by Polynesian—Late Date, by *Hourless, changed hands at the cry of Joe Palmisano for the sum of $13,500, after some very spirited bidding. Mrs. Connors, too, sold a very nice grey colt by Revoked—Whiskonia, by Whiskalong, which went to the Brandywine Stable (rather cheaply I thought) for $7,500. The popular Middleburg couple were extremely pleased with the results of their trip to Lexington, and did not hesitate to say so.

On the concluding day (Thursday, August 2) the 36 yearlings from the Coldstream Stud were brought under the gavel. They fetched a total of just under a half-million dollars. As a matter of fact, I expected them to bring even more than that, but neither Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shaffer nor Charlie Kenney seemed to be shelling any tears of disappointment. The beautiful *Shannon II—Stepwisely colt brought $35,500 and went to Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane of Brookmeade, while the roan colt by Bull Lea—Spotted Beauty, she by Man o'War, fetched $35,000 even, and was sold to Glen Tomlinson, acting as agent. Another that sold well was the *Alibhai—Offensive colt (I'd love to name that one) which took another $22,500 out of the Mayer coffers.

By this time everyone was saturated with excitement and looking at yearlings, and the edge was off the auction, but the professionals still held their seats.

The last part of the session did not seem to go with the general "Zing" that had characterized the preceding 3 days, and I thought that some of the horses sold rather cheaply. However, it was a sale that will long be remembered by all who were there—remembered for its sensational bidding, for one thing but even above that, it will always be remembered for the excellence of the yearlings that were offered. They were top horses, that brought top prices.

After hard workouts
cool out quickly, easily, with Absorbine

• Absorbine wash is a wonderful help in proper cooling out. It acts as a brace, cuts sweat fast and tends to prevent chilling. Use only 2 ounces of Absorbine in a quart of water. Absorbine is not a "cure-all," but is helpful in relieving fresh bog spavin, windgall, collar gall and similar congestive troubles. It won't blister or remove hair. Used by many leading veterinarians for over 50 years. $2.50 buys a LONG-LASTING BOTTLE at all druggists.

Earl Glascock, handler, of Middleburg, Va., says: "I've found Absorbine a great help. For years I've used it after hard workouts. It helps relieve bruises, puffs, and strains."

VIRGINIA ONCE HAD 15 RACE TRACKS

According to the American Turf Register of 1830 there were in that year forty-five race courses in the United States. Virginia led the list with fifteen tracks. Kentucky was next with eight, then came Maryland and North Carolina with four each; Alabama and South Carolina with three each; New York, Tennessee and Pennsylvania with two each and Ohio, Mississippi, New Jersey and the District of Columbia each had one.—T. R. A.

FIRST AT CABBAGE PATCH

It's a good thing someone invented the furlong pole otherwise with the development of the public address system a visitor to Aqueduct might hear Fred Cappsella saying: "As they pass the Cabbage patch, Battlefield leads" and "As they approach the beans, Battlefield still leads". It seems that before the turn of the century a vegetable garden lined the Aqueduct back stretch and bookmakers' observers would call the horses positions as they passed the various crops.—T. R. A.

'Chasing Ends At Monmouth Park

Titien II Connects In Midsummer Hurdle 'Cap By Scant Nose In Feature Offering; Maryador Sets Record of 2:39 For 1½ Miles

Chris Wood, Jr.

Climaxing three weeks of excellent hurdle racing, A Edward Masters' *Titien 2nd registered his fourth victory of the season in Monmouth Park's Midsummer Hurdle Handicap. Handled by Albert Foot, last year's hurdle champion carried the topweight of 160 pounds and turned back K. F. Chandor's fast-closing Fonda by a scant nose. The latter was ridden by Joe Snyder and totaled 145 pounds.

Mrs. Corliss Sullivan's Quiet, who had annexed an allowance race during the early part of Monmouth's hurdle program, gained the show berth. Well handled by F. D. "Dooley" Adams, Quiet battled it out with J. L. Friedman's Luremenow in the early stages and succumbed to the winner's drive over the 9th hurdle. Quiet was returned to the seaside plant from Saratoga Springs for the Friday, August 3, stake.

Well sprinkled by Monmouth's mile-around portable pipe, the course for the $5,000 added hurdle test was considered a bit on the soft side in spots. The winner covered the 1 3-4 miles in 3:12 1-5 and picked up a net sum of $3,775 for his efforts.

The final week of hurdle racing at Monmouth Park got under way on Tuesday, July 31, and Owner-Trainer Morris H. Dixon sent forth Maryador to score a 12-length victory in the 1 1-2 mile test. Well handled by Charles Harr, the Challador—Mary Nymph filly led from start to finish and improved her position with each move to score in an easy fashion. Her time of 2:39 established a new record for the 1 1-2 mile hurdle course.

Starting for the first time over hurdles, since being claimed from Bayard Sharp at Monmouth, Luremenow ran a credible race to gain the place award. Allison Stern's *Multum In Parvo, not favoring the hard going, ran third. The latter made his debut in this country in Monmouth's opening hurdle race and ran second to Emmett Roberts' *Elyacin.

On Wednesday, August 1, Owner-Trainer Dixon competed a double by annexing the first running of the United Hunts Purse with Grandgent. Well ridden by Charles Harr, the Star Beacon—Grand Promise gelding was 7-lengths in front of Mrs. Fay Ingall's Bab's Whey at the conclusion of the 1 1-2 trip. Justin Funkhouser's *Palaja, showing improvement over recent outings, finished third, two lengths in front of his stablemate, *Speer. The winners' time over a fast track was 2:40 2-5.

The United Hunts Purse furnished the first and only spill to be registered during the three weeks of sport. Riding Mrs. Carlo M. Paterno's Errolford on the front end of the field of six, F. D. "Dooley" Adams came a cropper over the 9th and final hurdle. Luckily Adams suffered no more than injured dignity, as the winner of two hurdle tests this year rolled right over the leading steeplechase rider.

The conditions of the United Hunts Purse called for horses which have started at a hunt meeting in 1950 or 51' over a brush or hurdle course. Instigated by Amory L. Haskell, president of the host organization and the UHRA, it is hoped that the event will encourage more starters at hunt meetings in order to become eligible for competition in future renewals.

Although his blue and white silks flashed in the money on a number of occasions at Monmouth's new hurdle session, Allison Stern had to wait until Thursday, August 2, before he saw them in front. His veteran infield campaigner, *Sale-maker furnished the thrill and Jockey Evan Jackson worked on him throughout the 1 3-4 miles to win by a length and a half over Mrs. M. S. Kirkpatrick's Pretender. George T. Weymouth's *Snow King 2nd finished third and pulled up so lame, his rider, Melvin Ferral, dismounted and walked him back to the stand.

The victory was popular one, as Allison Stern is a native of adjacent Eatontown, where his Pestoon Farm is one of the local havens for steeplechase performers. His English import traveled over the 1 3-4 miles and 10 hurdles in 3:15 1-5.

When *Titien 2nd accounted for the final hurdle offering, and the major race on Monmouth's three week hurdle agenda, he returned $3.60 for each $2.00 wagered to run the winning favorites' average to the high figure of 60 percent. The wagering public showed their faith in the hurdle contenders by sending $99,555 through the "tote" machines on the six contestants in the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap.

To say the hurdle racing program at Monmouth Park was a success, would be the height of understatement. It not only went over in fine fashion, but the infield sport received plaudits from all levels of the racing fraternity—from the stewards stand to the $2.00 punters.

Mr. Smoke Captures McGonigle Pt.-to-Pt. Over Passing Wings

The 5th running of the Gary McGonigle Point-to-Point at Portland Hunt Club, Garden Home, Ore. on June 29, brought out 5 horses to run over the 3 1-2 mile course. It was an excellent race with an exciting finish as Mr. Smoke, owned, ridden and trained by James A. MacGregor, streaked in to win the silver cup a third time.

Most of the race was visible from the clubhouse lawn with the first 9 jumps over the steeplechase course in the infield of the track. Don Wilson on his Abide, winner of last year's event, led over these jumps, fencing well. Mr. Smoke followed closely in 2nd place with Owner-rider Erroll Ostrum on Brown Sugar. Owner-rider Rudy Gross on The Cleaver and Mrs. J. C. Hering's Passing Wings behind him in that order.

As they left the infield and took to the track, Mr. Smoke and Abide had a close race to the gate leading to a narrow lane up the hill to the Nicol barn. The course was laid through the Nicol pasture and out over a fence where Mr. Smoke and Abide refused and Brown Sugar caught them. However, Mr. Smoke was quickly brought back on the course and took over the lead from Brown Sugar and Abide followed suit.

At this point they were galloping across a beautiful field towards Girtsch's dairy. Here Blake Hering on Passing Wings made his bid by coming up with great speed to pass Abide and Brown Sugar and jumping almost as a pair over the last 2 timber fences with Mr. Smoke. Mr. MacGregor, by the way, is Blake's uncle, so it was just a family affair! The horses were really winging as their riders tried to see who could get down hill and onto the track first for the 1-4-mile finish. Their pace was really terrific and the mare, Passing Wings, made a good try for it but could never come up on even terms with Mr. Smoke. Abide was in 3rd position coming down the hill to the track but ducked out at the track gate and Brown Sugar moved right in to finish 3rd. Mr. Gross on The Cleaver was never in the race at the finish as he lost the course in the Nicol woods.

To the writer's knowledge, this is the only race of its type in the northwest. It has always been a popular event, however, as each year rolls around everyone wonders where the entries and riders will come from. Not many owners can or want to keep a horse in shape for one jumping race a year, and then too, the army and colleges seem to have taken a large number of younger riders. Blake Hering, home from Dartmouth only 2 days before the race, is to be congratulated for the good ride he turned in.

Santa Barbara Trials

Olympic Trials and Three-Day Event Show Need For More Experience Over Such Courses By Team Candidates

Mavourneen J. Klein

The week end of June 8, 9 and 10 was designated by the United States Equestrian Team (International Equestrian Competitions Corporation) for the Olympic Trials in Santa Barbara, Calif. The previous establishment of a cross country course and competitions arena by the Equestrian Sports Association gave the opportunity for running a Three Day Event at the same time.

Of the six horses entered in the Prix des Nations competition, one had to be scratched because his owner did not consider his condition good enough to run the course twice. It was disappointing for the animal was one of the outstanding jumpers in this area, Amigo, owned and ridden by Miss Margaret Stewart. Mrs. Norma (Mathews) Lauer, who competed with the U. S. Equestrian Team last year, brought Country Boy and Oregon Duke from Sacramento, some four hundred miles away to compete. Country Boy was disqualified on three refusals, but Oregon Duke won the event by placing 2nd in both heats with a spectacular performance.

Howard Gass of Bellflower, on Tamarack made one of the most beautiful rides to take 2nd place. The second heat for this horse and rider was the only clean performance in the competition. His technique in riding was grand to watch as he never interfered with his mount when he headed for the jumps. As Miss Stewart observed during the competition:—"Those obstacles are too big and broad for rating a horse, the only thing to do is show the horse the way and leave him alone."

Mrs. Ellen Lincoln rode Mr. Gass' Beau Pierre and was having a fair go until the horse caught his front legs on the 5'-6" bar of the far side of the last oxer and tripped so badly that he went to his knees and threw his rider. Although suffering from a broken nose, Mrs. Lincoln rode the second heat. As the horse was past the finish flag before he shed the rider, there was no disqualification and he placed 3rd.

Miss Barbara Busch also of Sacramento, finished 4th with her little horse Charley. Her score was 1st in the first heat and fifth in the second heat. It was amazing to see such a comparatively small animal do so well over such tremendous obstacles.

Norman Brinker of San Diego had the bad luck to leave the course after the first heat with a lame horse. May his mount The Master have better success next time.

A commentary by the Major George de Roaldes follows.

"The Prix des Nations was truly an F. E. I. course because of the type, size and disposition of the obstacles. Many 'obstacles de volee' were used; that is, combining height and width such as double oxers, the Lucern and double fences. The last jump was an oxer 5'-6" high and 5'-0" wide. The course necessitated stipulation that the horses carry 165 pounds, for the four young ladies who competed were obviously 'not up to weight'."

Only six contestants entered the Three Day Event for most jumping people on the west coast are little interested in good dressage for their horses and find the cross country phase too much for their horses.

The well known sportswoman and teacher, Miss Rosalind T. Johnson, of Pasadena, won this event on her Trafalgar, a tall, brown gelding with an eye-catching stance. She had won the steeplechase at a near-by meet two weeks before and from the rate of speed she took on the cross country course it would be guessed that Trafalgar still thought he was racing. His dressage test was lovely to watch even though a spectator in the know thought at times he would buck from sheer exuberance. But it was a proud and happy owner that went home with the challenge cup donated by Mr. and Mrs. Hartmann Pauly of San Francisco.

G. M. Mott, of Pasadena, on his powerful chestnut gelding, Beau Geste, placed 2nd with a most creditable performance in all three phases of the event. It must be observed that the cross country course of 2 miles and 20 jumps would test the cleverness, obedience and jumping ability of any first rate horse.

Drop jumps, chicken coops, double oxers, ditches, snake fences, double fences and the like are used and horses used to only straight up and down fences would soon be in trouble.

The dressage test was quite correct for the Three Day Event, however, one contestant stated that perhaps it was a little too long and complicated for beginners and had therefore discouraged some riders who might have entered.

The stadium jumping test of the Three Day event was held on the Prix des Nations course with the jumps lowered to a standard of the cross country. It is interesting to note that there were no ties in the dressage test, but that there were three ties in the stadium jumping and in the cross country, which showed that the competing horses were pretty well of the same caliber.

A word about the young lady, Miss Pamela Gluck who one would suppose eligible only for children's events. Her little bay mare put in a fine performance in the jumping but failed on the dressage. Nevertheless, Fleiga is a good little mare with a tremendous amount of jumping ability. It is too bad that there are so few who will compete in the Three Day Event for "it is the finest jewel in the horseman's crown".

Besides these two outstanding competitions there were classes for working hunters judged under American Horse Shows Association rules by Miss Margaret Stewart; dressage classes for children and jumping classes judged under F. E. I. rules by Commandant G. Ganshof van der Meersch and Major Hartmann Pauly who have had long experience in international competition. It was an interesting three days of fine competition put on by the hard work and cooperation of people who have the interest of good horsemanship at heart and who hope that from this sort of event to encourage the forming of our United States Equestrian Team who will compete in Helsinki, Finland in 1952.

As the Major de Roaldes remarked at the end of the competitions:—"What the candidates need most is more and more experience on such courses instead of the straight, filmy fences of the American horse shows".

SHOW CIRCUITS

Colorado Springs Junior

Rivalry is keen between the Cockerails Club of Colorado Springs and the Hottentots of Denver who ride together throughout the year in every horse show in the region, and it was something of a surprise to both groups to have two "dark horses" home for summer vacation, give them even more competition.

Miss Povy La Farge had a really beautiful performance to win the championship over the Hottentot's Miss Phyllis Maddox who was high point winner of the show, and the Cockerails' strong riding Joan Cogswell just managed to win the Nutrition Camp Trophy for the best local rider from Wayne MacVeagh. There were over 75 riders in the show from the 18-year-olds in the hunter classes down to the 2-year-olds in the lead rein class and the judges were really over the barrel to pick the best of a very good lot. The improvement in horses was as noticeable as the improvement in the riding, and in the showmanship class in which practically every horse in the show was entered, there was as nice a group of children's ponies and hunters as could be put into one horse show ring.

Colorado Springs Junior League

A most promising group of young riders from Colorado Springs and Denver entered the hunter classes at the Colorado Springs Junior League Horse Show. Although the trophies went to older and more experienced riders, the youngsters accounted for many a ribbon throughout the show. Entries from the 4th F. A. Bn. (Pack) at Camp Carson took the ribbons in the jumping classes and in the zone tryouts for the Equestrian Team. A musical chairs for enlisted men riding mules bareback afforded much amusement for the spectators.

Miss Gloria Hayes' steady, honest Renarde Rouge turned in consistently good performances to win the working hunter championship and the Arapahoe Hunt Secretary's Challenge Cup awarded to the horse winning the highest number of points in the show and hunted regularly with Arapahoe. The R. E. Jones' big young hunter Royal Salute took the championship in the conformation division and Miss Joan Decker's Irish Mick won the Col. Henry Leonard Memorial Trophy for the outstanding Thoroughbred horse in the show. John C. Hill's Reno Remit failed to win a championship, but went home with 3 reserves.

Morton W. "Cappy" Smith made his presence strongly felt in the green division with the bay gelding Chapeau, which bears a striking resemblance to the similarly named Sombrero. The gelding concluded his performances by annexing the young hunter tri-color. Reserve was George P. Greenhalgh's Borealis, ridden by Miss Georgene Lee.

The working hunter division was hotly contested among many top horses, but when the points were added, Kinwold Farms' Tarad emerged champion. Ridden by Robby McKinnon, Tarad seemed to be the beau ideal of what a working hunter should be. Sombrero, owned by Mrs. Don J. Ferraro and ridden by Miss Peggy Mills, was in the reserve spot. Wherever this horse is shown, he is never to be overlooked and is usually the one to beat.

out many of the outstanding stables in the country and the judges had no small task making their selections. Leading the list was Moonlight Bay, recently acquired from Springsbury Farm by Miss Claire L. Miller. Given several brilliant rides by Miss Georgene Lee, Moonlight Bay garnered the tri-color. Quaker Bonnet from Mrs. Hugh Barclay's Douglaston Manor Farm was close behind for reserve. This lovely, big mare is a real joy to watch.

When Millarden Farms' horses come to a show, they are always a threat in the open jumper ranks and Elmira was no exception. Pat Dixon had the bay mare Hellzapoppin going to perfection and he won the championship with a 6-point margin. Mrs. Don J. Ferraro's Black Watch, ridden as always by Miss Peggy Mills, was reserve.

The most exciting open class of the show was the regular knock-down-and-out Saturday afternoon when Black Watch and Bert Fierstein's Golden Chance hooked up for the jump-off. The brilliant black gelding and the cautious yellow mare jumped off 3 times with the fences getting bigger and bigger. Finally one of Golden Chance's feet got in the way of a striped pole after Black Watch had gone clean.

Farmington Junior

The 35 classes in the Farmington Junior Horse Show were well filled with keenly competitive and enthusiastic young entries. Many spectators were overheard to comment that it was one of the finest junior shows in the country.

The three divisions listed were for small ponies, large ponies and junior division. In the small ranks, Miss Laura Lawrence's Powder Puff was champion with Miss Beverly Harrison's Bigger Bit reserve.

Among the large ponies, Anthony Rives' Northlight, ridden by Miss Courtney Wells, was awarded the tri-color ahead of Miss Laura Lee Shreve's Popsicle.

Ally Broom, belonging to Miss Maxine IX and piloted by Miss Ann Everett Yoe, was champion of the junior division with 20 points and following in reserve with 12 1-2 points was Miss Nancy Lee Huffman's Waverly Molly.

Jumper champion was Miss Allison Duffey's Grey Lad with Miss Nancy Orme's Brownie reserve.

Frankfort Lions Club

Southern hospitality was at its best as exhibitors poured into the town of Frankfort for the annual horse show. Hi Way 40, owned by Mrs. George Hunting, and Lady Gordon, owned by Si Jayne, split the stake honors for jumpers and hunters, respectively.

Si Jayne's good stable of jumpers scored well in the other classes. All the jump offs went well above 4'-6" but the stake was by far the best class.

Lexington Junior League

The famous old trotting track was again the setting for the colorful Junior League Horse Show. This year there was no mud, but mud or no mud, the Kentuckian stands, if necessary, knee deep in it to watch a horse.

Mrs. Clarkson Beard, the League's one committee member who lines up as a hunter devotee, shoved the show up one more rung on the ladder that leads to an all-out hunter and jumper event. Five years ago hunters and jumpers were looked upon as incorrigible step-children who had to be shown beyond the shrubbery at some time during which the spectators were particularly engrossed in a super Saddle horse class. This year there were divisions for green, working and conformation hunters as well as a jumper division.

It was amusing to watch the competitive spirit created by the meeting of the east and the mid-west. Against strong competition from the east, when the show was over, the conformation championship went to the mid-western owned Rifrafrus from the stable of the Andrew Shinkies. Another mid-westerner, Hi Way 40, annexed the jumper tri-color for Mrs. George H. Bunting, Jr. But Borealis and Moonlight Bay, both shown by Springsbury Farm, evened the score by taking the green and the working tri-colors back east. However, prior to the show, Miss Claire Miller of Buffalo had purchased Moonlight Bay so the working hunter rosette went to that section of the country.

by the Green Dunes Farm, broke out in front by winning the model but Rirafus backed the good campaigner into reserve place when it came to adding the points for the week.

Perhaps we will have to give the star championship to Hi Way 40, owned by Mrs. Bunting and ridden by Bob Egan, the only horse to collect 3 blues over jumps. In the first event of the knock-down-and-out sweepstakes, he defeated Ten Pin Farm's Catch Me, but only after 7 rounds, 5 of them clean.

Reserve championships went to My Bill in the conformation division; Sailor, owned by Si Jayne in the working; Seveven, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Shinkle, in the green and Hoodie, owned by Mrs. O. G. Bitler in the jumper. Until the stake Hoodie was tied for points with Watch Me, that fascinating trotting horse of Si Jayne's that keeps spectators on edge as he calmly trots over any old 5-0" jump while his young rider, Miss Susy Lucenti, just sits cool.

Owingsville

Although the open jumpers were definitely in the minority at the Owingsville Horse Show, the spectators evidenced much interest in them. Mrs. O. G. Bitler's Hoodie ruled the roost by garnering the two blues in the events and the horses from the stable of Mrs. George Bunting handled the rest of the awards. All of the ribbon winners were ridden by Bob Egan.

Pecos Valley Spring

The Pecos Valley Horsemen held their 3rd annual local spring show at the New Mexico Military Institute Polo Grounds. A very superb exhibition of horsemanship was given by Sgt. Marion V. Bridges and Howard Babcock, Jr. on their two stallions, Euchucha Ladd, a Thoroughbred, and Muchacho de Oro, a Palomino. These two horses are both very highly schooled as reining and cutting horses, the former has been on the track and the latter is a great sire of jumpers.
The Cadets played a prominent part in the show. The school, now strictly devoted to polo, had 4 classes for polo ponies or reining horses.

If anyone ever wonders where the jumping in this country starts, all he has to do is to watch the cowpony jumping classes. Horses in this class must be shown under stock saddle. Most of the horses spend their time schooling over mesquite bushes, prairie dog holes and corral fences.

Pony Club Rally

Commented on as being the finest thing in Canada for the promotion of better sportsmanship and horsemanship, the 4th Annual Competitive Pony Club Rally took place in London, Ont., on June 29-30 and July 1.

Col. J. E. Smallman permitted the rally to be held at his Medway Thoroughbred breeding farm. Horses were stabled in his arena, standing stalls of somewhat flimsy construction were erected down both sides, with team tack rooms spaced between each team's horses. Although few of the horses had been required to stand in single stalls, they were amazingly well behaved. An odd one got loose, but without causing harm and a watchman was on at night.

The children were quartered in the race horse barn with double decker bunks, 6 people to a box stall. Girls were on one side and boys on the other. As can be imagined the excited chatter could not be quelled and carried on late into the night. Reveille was at 6 A. M., yet most youngsters beat the gong by as much as an hour in order to be certain to get their stable work done and everything ship shape for the stable inspections. The 3 days were jammed with activities and most children were near exhaustion at the end. This was the only thing wrong with the rally and youngsters and oldsters alike are all submitting suggestions as to how to improve this situation for future rallies.

The 20 odd events were designed to bring out team cooperation, riding ability, stable management, knowledge and judgment. Some were for the whole team, others for children of different grades of advancement based on the Pony Club Efficiency Certificate ratings. Teams were made up of four children, one holding the "A" certificate, who could be up to 17 years; two holding "B" and one holding "C". These could not be over 16 and "C" who had competed at previous rallies could not be over 14. Ages ranged from 9 to 17 years. Each branch of the pony club which accepted the challenge was permitted to send up to 3 teams. The Eglinton branch, Toronto, Ontario, sent the full complement of teams, one entering as the Eglinton Green and the others as Bayview and Pine Glades. Montreal (Que.) sent two teams, the Blue and Yellow, London, Ont., did likewise, designating them as the Red and the Blue, while Aurora, Ont., a much newer branch than the others, sent one team and not yet having had any of its members pass the test for the "A" certificate, sent 2 "B's" and 2 "C's". The Aurora team wound up at the bottom but they had no great expectations and actually did extraordinarily well as this was their first participation in the annual rally and I believe if compared to teams which attended the first rally they would have scored as high or higher than any but the Montreal team which won on that occasion.

The final analysis of points showed the Eglinton Green team, comprised of Cecil Phillips "A", Heather McLean "B", Lionel Conacher "B" and Mary Jane Corbet "C", had 60 1-3 points to win the annual team trophy over the Bayview team which had 57 points. The Montreal Blue team, captained by their "A", Faith Heward, had 55 1-3 points. London Reds were in 4th place with 52 1-2 points. This makes it obvious that all teams were of uniform excellence and a tilt either way could have changed the entire picture. Five placings were given in each competitive event, scaling down from 5 points for the winner.

Perhaps the most significant advancement of the members of the Pony Club was illustrated by the very creditable displays given by the "A" riders in the dressage test. Such training was virtually unknown in Canada a couple of years ago. The test was a comparatively simple one but these young horsemen clearly illustrated that they are on the right track and as entries were from widely separated parts of Canada, interest in developing this art is not confined to one area and the five placings went to five different teams. Socks, was the winner.

Whether the rally or just good work on the part of pony clubs in general is responsible, the suitability as well as appearance of children's mounts is ever improving. Not all children by any means owned their own horses or ponies but they were all well mounted and made the most of what they had. A heartening thing was to see so many children of farmers on the teams. This was especially true of the London teams. All were very well turned out too, and tack rooms were splendidly appointed although elegance was not considered; the judges looking only for a workmanlike appearance and efficiency.

4th Annual Sandia

Beneath typical "land of enchantment skies", the fourth Annual Sandia Horse Show was held June 16-17 at the State Fairgrounds in Albuquerque, New Mexico. All classes were filled with eliminations having to be held in most of them. Many entries came from as far as Denver, Colorado and Amarillo, Texas. To an outsider it sounds like just in the next state, but just in the next state is some 600 miles.

Although there was no high-point rider, the imaginary trophy was captured by Suzanne Norton. Jumping was introduced this year for the first time since 1936; the reception given it by the crowd was so hearty and enthusiastic that 1952's show will not only be A. H. S. A. approved but principally a hunter-jumper show.

Miss Norton's Rogue Anne, the full sister to Millard's Farms' Injun Joe (Pronto) performed well in both hunter and jumper classes and thus joined the winning ranks of both her brother and her also famous mother, Play Pretty, owned by F. G. Coates of Houston, Texas and now performing in Pennsylvania.

Knight d'Orleans, a brown gelding owned and ridden by Harriet Markus of Albuquerque gave his rider very consistent rounds in both the hunter and jumper classes. Scamp from the Crescent S. Horse Farm in Roswell, N. M. won the jumper stake.

South Shore

The spacious grounds of the South Shore Country Club, with Lake Michigan as a background, provide the most beautiful setting imaginable for the horse show ring.

About 250 of the top horses were on hand. Hunters and jumpers were in the minority, but the courses were well planned and the jumps diversified. One of the highlights of the show was the beautiful round turned in by Mrs. R. G. Denley on Birchwood in the working hunter class, where a rather tricky jump on the turn spelled disaster for many.

Si Jayne's entries took championship and reserve in both the hunter and jumper stakes, with Miss Dorothy McLeod up on Lady Gordon, Sailor and Watch Me, and Mrs. Martha Jayne on Happy Day.

On Sunday afternoon, Ray Shaefer of Wheaton, president of the Northern Illinois Horse Show Association, presented an engraved cane to W. J. Cunningham of Mexico, Mo., for his outstanding work as horse show judge during 1950.

Spring Valley Junior

At previous Junior Children's Horse Shows of the Spring Valley Hounds, the classes have been pretty much controlled by a few riders. This year it was noticed there was keen competition in all events. Miss Ann Fairburn, who finally went to the top with her horse, Plum Pudding, was constantly challenged by Miss Gay Koven on her very good Nipper and by Miss Virginia Teller on her Lucky Lady.

The final count gave the tri-color to Miss Fairburn and reserve to Miss Koven.

Valley Hunt Club

The Valley Hunt Club Horse Show was most fortunate in drawing 3 days of clear, sunny weather, after as many weeks of pouring rain, which resulted in very heavy going, particularly over the outside course.

H. L. Reynolds brought out the conformation hunter champion in his Lat while Stirrup Hill Farm's Cafe Society was reserve.

Lakelawn Farms got a running start as their favorite old campaigner, Renown, kept the dust from accumulating in the tackroom as he had to have a spot for another working hunter tri-color. In behind him was another Stirrup Hill Farm horse, Extravagance.

Mike Nidorf, a young campaigner in Renown's stable, chalked up the young hunter rosette ahead of George P. Gable's Ginoper but in the jumper division, Lakelawn Farms took over entirely. Their Tarboy headed the line up with stablemate Haymarket in for reserve.

The usual congeniality and hospitality prevailed—for which Bradford, and particularly the Valley Hunt Club, is well known. Although the show may lack a little in quantity as compared with former years, the quality of horses present by Grand Time. In for reserve was Mrs. G. P. Greenhalgh's brown filly by Black Tarquin—Faid Pass, by *Blenheim II.

The Harry M. Wick Memorial Championship

Faid Pass had held up her share of the stable honors as she was pinned reserve champion in the hunter division. She won the hunter broodmare event ahead of Mrs. A. C. Randolph's vain but when the rosettes were pinned, vain was champion.

There were ponies galore and one which immediately caught the eye was Farnley Farm's Farnley Gremelin. This outstanding pony sire was led to the top of the line for the tri-color with Miss Julia Shearer leading in her pony broodmare, Small Package, for reserve.

Virginia Horsemen's Ass'n. Breeders

There are horse shows and more horse shows but when an event is in the breeding show category, the spectator line up is completely changed. Such shows draw people who are really interested in Thoroughbred breeding and will spend an entire day watching the various classes as they come into the ring.

Three divisions are shown during the day and with some of the Saratoga bound yearlings on hand, the racing ranks hold the spotlight. Brookmeade Farms continued its winning ways and just as Trainer Preston Burch has Mrs. Dodge Sloan's horses in top shape at the tracks, so Manager Bill Ballenger had the entries for the breeders show. When the tri-color was pinned, a full sister to Grand Admiral was the champion. This is a brown filly by War Admiral—Grand Flame,

Make Way Wins At Annual Poison Hill Hunter Trial

Make Way, a brown Thoroughbred mare owned and ridden by Miss Gerry Pearson, was the winner and new champion of the Poison Hill Hunters Trial held July 8 at Carlton, Ore. On this date the L. M. Menefees once again hung out the welcome sign at Poison Hill Farm for their hunter and jumper friends.

Miss Pearson brought her mare with a 4-month-old filly (by Crystal Sheik) by her side. The filly was locked in the stables while her dam performed for the first time since entering the broodmare ranks.

There were 18 entries and many a good round over the strenuous course. Folks with green hunters were especially pleased, however, one rider was heard to mention that he couldn't decide whether the courses were getting tougher or he was getting older—maybe both!

Hunt teams were organized for the last event which course took a little concentrated study on the part of the riders. Good coordination and quick thinking, along with a splendid performance, won the event for the team of Scrap Iron, Mr. Chlps and Duke of Hampton, with Harold Hirsch, Mrs. Kenton Palmer and Bill Wallingford up.

SUMMARIES

Hunter trial for Poison Hill perpetual pot (only one award)—Make Way, Gerry Pearson. Hunt teams—1. Scrap Iron, Harold Hirsch; Mr. Chlps, Nancy Chipman; Duke of Hampton, Robert Ferry.

Hawaii Polo Ends Long Season with Both Teams Beating Yale In Finale

K. S. Drake

In Honolulu the polo season has been long, colorful and very successful. Starting in the early spring of 1951 The Hawaii Racing and Polo Club embarked on an ambitious schedule of polo games for its two teams, Maui and Oahu. Every Friday night one or both of the teams had met such competition as Chicago's Oak Brook Polo Club, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Idaho, Texas and Mexico. The grand finale to the season was the Islanders traditional match with the Yale University team. Both the Oahu and Maui teams had played the Yale squad in 1950 and had scheduled games this year. Crowds at the nightly games had been on the increase with the record breaker at the big Shrine polo benefit matches, but the opening match with the Elis in which the Oahu team emerged victorious in the last minutes of play brought out an estimated 3,000 fans.

Richard (Abe) and Alex Waterhouse with Clark Reynolds made up the Oahu team. Alex, who scored 5 of the team's goals, sent the penalty shot through the uprights that won the game for his Oahu team in the last minutes of play. The score had been tied at the end of the first and second chukkers. Just after the half Yale took a lead and closed the third period 6-3. Each Yale man had accounted for a goal in the third period, there had been 2 from the mallet of Greg Baldwin and 1 from Mike Mahoney up until this time. It was Billy Ylvisaker who started the third period scoring with Baldwin and Mahoney following suit. Faced with the necessity of making every shot count in the final period, Oahu was disheartened when at the opening of the fourth Mahoney scored again to make the margin even wider. Oahu's Alex and Richard Waterhouse each scored twice to bring the score to a tie of 7-7. Baldwin scored for Yale, Clark Reynolds banged another in for Oahu and in the final minutes a penalty against Yale gave Oahu a free hit which was nicely goaled by Alex Waterhouse for the successful ending of the match.

Preliminary to the feature match on this Summer night an inter club game between Manduke Baldwin's "White" team and Oske Rice's "Red" ended in a 9-4 victory for the Baldwin captained squad. Baldwin was high scorer with 7 goals to his credit.

An even larger crowd of spectators (5,000) turned out to watch the second match with Yale's polo team. This time the Maui team composed of Gordon VonTempesky, Manduke Baldwin, O. Rice and F. Rice rode over Yale to a 14-4 win. The Yale squad remained intact—Mahoney, Ylvisaker, and Greg Baldwin (this was a case of Father vs. Son) Gordon VonTempesky was forced from the game because of a mallet crack across the knee. Freddie Rice took VonTempesky's place in the lineup but only after VonTempesky had accounted for 3 goals in the second period and 1 in the third. Manduke Baldwin again was high man on the team with 8 goals to his credit. For Yale Ylvisaker scored 2 with Baldwin and Mahoney each 1.

This marked the close of the season and the end of the matches with the boys from New Haven. Baldwin and Mahoney have residences on the Islands while Ylvisaker hails from New Jersey and has been with the Arlington Farms Polo team in Libertyville, Ill., this season.

Brandywine Team Wins 9-Goal Tournament Over Philadelphia

Philadelphia polo players were on the move during the recent 9-Goal Tournament at the Meadow Brook club, Westbury, L. I. Two Philadelphia teams beat all comers through the semi-finals and played off the championship between themselves.

Brandywine Polo Association, with Jimmy McHugh, Buddy Maloney, Ray Harrington and Wes Maloney riding, beat Bostwick Field 9-6, to qualify for the semi-finals. Riding for Bostwick Field were Jay Schwartz, Fred Zeller, Pete Bostwick and Bill Stoethoff. In the semi-finals, Brandywine won a 9-6 victory over Fairfield, with Frank Butterworth, Tommy Glynn, Billy McMath and Bill Crawford riding for Fairfield.

In the meantime, under the banner of the Philadelphia Polo Club, Howard Fair, Lou Maloney, Albie Stewart and Al Parsells, had beaten Old Westbury, 10-9. Riding for Old Westbury were Devereaux Milburn, Henry Lewis, Billy Whitehead and Frank Fox. Inasmuch as Old Westbury was already qualified for the finals, the Philadelphia Polo Club by-passed the semi-finals, to play off the finals with their fellow-Philadelphians, Brandywine Polo Association. The match was closely contested, but with the score tied in the 6th chukker, Buddy Maloney drove in the winning goal, making the score, Brandywine 7, Philadelphia Polo Club, 6.

As a courtesy to their Philadelphia followers, Brandywine and the Philadelphia Polo Club played a match at the Bala, bowl of the Philadelphia Country Club on July 22. This time Brandywine won 7-2, with Wes Maloney and Bob Ackerman scoring 3 goals each and Albie Stewart, 1. Riding for Philadelphia Polo Club, Terence Preece and John Rice, scored the teams only goals.

Wichita Victor In Intra-Circuit At Bradley Field

Helen Rice

A busy five days of polo, climaxed by the finals of the Northwestern Intra-Circuit and 12-Goal Open Championships played on beautiful Bradley Field, Sunday, July 29, saw Fairfield of Wichita victors in the Intra-Circuit and Topeka walk off with the 12-Goal.

Mere floods did little to deter these Kansas players. As soon as feasible they shipped their horses here to Wichita where play began under smiling skies and nine games were smoothly run off in five days by Manager Orville Rice.

The Kansas City Yanks won the Intra-Circuit consolation, which divided up all the trophies in nice fashion among the cities participating. A newcomer to the association, Fort Hays Polo Club of Hays, Kansas, gave a fine account of itself as the fourth town in the tournament.

The clubs and their respective line ups are: Fairfield Reds—Ralph Hartman, Leon Davis, Willis L. Hartman, Loay Wilshire, Claude Lambe; Fairfield Yellows—Sam Arnholz, Carl Hall, Julian Ralston, Stanley Buffington, Dean Noll; Kansas City Rebels (Mission Brook)—Carl Rapp, Audie Van Gontard, Joe Mackey, Robert Shelton; Kansas City Yanks (Mission Brook)—George Van Vorst, Claude Coons, John Dow, Harvey Rush; Fort Hays Polo

The schedule of play and results, Intra-Circuit are as follows: July 25—Fairfield Reds over K. C. Yanks, 12-7; K. C. Rebels over Fairfield Yellows, 8-6. July 26—K. C. Rebels over Fort Hays, 17 to 7. July 27—Fairfield Red over Old Ironsides, 9-6. July 28—(Consolation) K. C. Yanks over Fairfield Yellows, 9-5. July 29—Fairfield Reds over K. C. Rebels, 10-7. 12-Goal Open—July 26—K. C. Yanks over Fairfield Yellows, 6-5. July 28—Old Ironsides over Fort Hays, 17-3. July 29—Old Ironsides, over K. C. Yanks, 10-4.

Ligonier Valley Team Scalps Chicago Buick Quartet, 5 To 3

Elizabeth Eierman

On July 29 the Ligonier Valley polo team added another scalp to its belt by defeating Chicago Buick team 5-3 at Thompson Field, Ligonier, Pa. The visitors made up of Joe Karp at No. 1, John Casey at No. 2, Jack Ryan No. 3, and Paul Smithson at back gave the home team its toughest battle of the season. Seconds after the initial throw in they had scored twice and were definitely the aggressors, forcing Ligonier to tighten up its teamwork. Bill Hanley knocked through 1 goal in the first chukker to keep his team in the game, and accounted for 3 more before he was finished. Riding at No. 1, Mark Thompson picked up the ball in the goal mouth to score Ligonier's 5th tally in the third chukker. It was in this period that play became a bit bloody—Bill Hanley had his already bandaged elbow cut open, and two stitches were necessary to close a deep cut in Mark's mallet hand.

A large crowd turned out to see the Chicago quartet play, and they saw the best polo of the year. They saw a promising youngster, Bill Stone, turn into a capable stick man in his one period of play, and they saw a visiting team superbly mounted and sparked by Ryan and Casey put on an exhibition of real teamwork and hustle.

Kennel Management

Record of Each Hound Form As Important Feature of Well Run Kennels To Master As Balance Sheet To Corporation Head

George Cole Scott

If a Master has a huntsman or kennelman who is interested in keeping good records he is indeed fortunate. Many take excellent care of their hounds, have that wonderful sixth sense necessary to understand a fox, and keep their kennel well, but do so with the instinctive knowledge of experience, which is a primary requisite. Perhaps one should not hope for more, for the paper work is secondary, but it is like a business, if the accountant keeps the boss thoroughly aware of the state of affairs, then the boss in turn is always able to feel the pulse of his business.

We have visited kennels where the Master had no idea what was going on between hunting days or in the off season. Too often he left the feeding, exercising and breeding to the professional and frequently there were indications that the hounds were not getting the care and attention he would have you believe. There are, however, notable exceptions and the businesslike conduct of these kennels is immediately apparent both in the condition and behavior of the hounds and the appearance of their quarters.

It is not our intention to criticize or tell Masters how to do their job, but for the benefit of the smaller packs and because there are groups in certain parts of the country considering applying for registration, we will tell what others are doing and what we consider to be some of the best practices.

Breeding Records: These, under no circumstances should be left in the care of the huntsman. The Keeper of the Foxhound Stud Book of the Masters of Foxhounds Association is carrying on a very important work and it is certainly in the interest of the future of this Stud Book that Masters personally supervise the keeping of their own breeding records. Pedigrees, therefore are kept at their homes or offices except in the case of a few large kennels where a regular office is included. The forms supplied by the M. F. H. A. are the most suitable. They are generally filed in two loose leaf books: "Active" and "Dead or Drafted." Hounds that have a pedigree of three or more generations are listed in the Stud Book and are thus permanently recorded.

Sick Book: It is an excellent practice to maintain a sick book at the kennel. An example of a workable sick book is a loose leaf one in which there is a page for each hound. Whenever one is injured, sick or treated for any reason the in the kennels is Chart A illustrated herewith. This is made on a large sheet of cross section paper with not over five squares to the inch. Across the top are the days of the month and week, as illustrated, and down the side are listed the names of all the hounds. Each day the huntsman records with a symbol, as shown in the legend, exactly what each hound did. It will be noted, for example, that Blazer only hunted one day a week whereas several of the others were out each hunting day. Several of the young hounds were still going to exercise in couples and by retaining the charts one has a definite record of when bitches were in heat.

Speaking of Dogs...

By ELIAS VAIL

Variety that doesn't spice a dog's life...
changing scenery and balancing menus
...how to be right every time.

Kennels just can't be run like clockwork, I guess, because dogs just aren't clocks. But I've often thought that most dogs, in their own way, are more anxious than their owners are to have everything go smoothly and steadily.

Canine love of the lawful and orderly never stopped a bitch from starting to whelp in the middle of the night, I suppose, nor a kennel from barking itself hoarse over a passing squirrel. But the average dog sure does seem to resent a change in the routine of his life unless it offers some obvious advantage or real excitement. Well-meaning folks who think moving Flash to Bozo's run, and vice versa, will give each of them a nice shift of scenery soon find out how unappreciated such small favors can be.

About the most thankless changes—as many of us quickly learn—are those we might make in feeding. In addition to liking their meals on time every day, I really think most dogs, if they could, would put in a standing order for “the usual” as the main part of their diet. You may sometimes want to add an occasional variation in appetizer, flavoring, or dessert—if you go in for such trimmings. But for more drastic changes, we soon find that even if the spirit's willing, the flesh is apt to be kind of weak. And if there were no other objection, I think you'll also find that a lot of variety in the feeding pan ends up in uncertain appetites and fussy eating habits.

As far as I'm concerned, the theory that dogs do best when fed steadily on a good basic diet doesn't take any proving beyond what I noticed years ago. But they tell me that scientists have come up with some research on the same point. And what the scientists found would seem to indicate again how important it is to make every single feeding as well-balanced and complete as you can.

You can't juggle food essentials so that today's deficiencies are made up by an excess tomorrow. Now, a feeding of meat alone followed by two feedings of Gaines wouldn't do any visible harm, I suppose. But the Gaines doesn't get a fighting chance to make up for what the meat lacked; the dog would have gotten more value from the same food if every feeding had been balanced by making Gaines the main part of it.

From this angle, you can see why uniformity is so important in any dog food you use regularly. Unless it's carefully made, and constantly checked, almost any food can vary quite a bit from bag to bag. That's why it's worth remembering that Gaines is made with the help of precise, modern equipment and that every batch is tested at every step from ingredients to finished product. Gaines quality offers not only the well-proved Gaines formula, but also the equally important assurance that every bag will provide the right nourishment every time.

nature of the trouble and the treatment, together with the date and notes on the results are recorded. Huntsmen will say they know their hounds so well that they can carry all of this in their heads. They cannot, and besides, it is a way for the Master to keep himself posted on the health and condition of his hounds.

Perpetual Inventories: These should be kept for each type of feed used in the kennels. Whenever dry feed, horse meat, cod liver oil or other products are purchased the quantity should be immediately recorded in the appropriate part of the inventory book. It is suggested that a physical inventory be taken once a week. This is a relatively easy procedure. One knows the total capacity of the feed bins. By marking the side for each hundred pounds of contents, one can tell at a glance the amount on hand. A properly set up perpetual inventory will show the consumption each week and the Master can readily check this against the feeding instructions he has given.

Exercise and Hunting Schedule: Perhaps the most important record

A sheet 18"x24" is sufficient for two months. The charts should be kept all twelve months of the year and during the off season other symbols are used to indicate when hounds were exercised dismounted or mounted and when bitches were bred, whelped or were weaned from their pups. After he has made his fixture card the Master or huntsman can write in the information at the bottom of the chart in order that the hunt staff may know exactly when they must be mounted and at the kennel gate. The weight chart, at the beginning, is useful to watch the condition of the hounds. The most practical way to weigh them is on a bathroom scales which records up to three hundred pounds. After weighing himself the huntsman picks up each hound separately and records the difference as the hound weight. This should be done each month.

Hound Lists: The larger packs usually have printed hound lists which they give to each member or subscriber. They are duplicates of the information in the Stud Book, giving the name of each hound, the date entered and the names of the sire and dam. With smaller packs, where it is felt that the printing cost is not necessary, one will find it worthwhile to prepare such lists on a mimeograph or duplicating machine. A list of the names of the hounds in the hands of subscribers greatly helps to increase their interest in the pack. If members have walked some of the puppies there is that added reason why they are interested in these lists. Occasionally the name of the puppy walker is shown on the list.

A bulletin board in the kennel is necessary to post the Exercise and Hunting Schedule and the current feeding instructions to the huntsman. Other notices, such as the fixture card, the hound lists and special landowner requests may be placed thereon. It is most advisable to encourage subscribers to visit the kennels as often as they please. Seeing before them these details helps to make foxhunters out of riders.

BLACK WAVE

When the bay colt by Count Fleet—Black Wave, consigned to the Keeneland Sales by Claiborne Farm and Nydris Stud, brought $36,000, it put Black Wave in a class of her own as a producer of sales attractions.

Eight of her 10 foals which went to the sales have brought $223,300. Her complete record with the prices paid for her get is as follows: foal of 1940, Undulator, by Pompey (was not sold at yearling sales); 1941, Ebony Wave, by Stimulus, $1,300; 1942, Lakonia, by *Blenheim II, $19,000; 1943 (foal died); 1944, Jet Pilot, by *Blenheim II, $41,000; 1945, Deep Water, by *Blenheim II, $40,000; 1946, Charlie Baad, by Whirlaway, $25,000; 1947, Jet Flight, by *Blenheim II, $41,000; 1948, Tides, by *Blenheim II (not sold at yearling sales); 1949, Wave Crest, by *Blenheim II, $20,000; 1950, b. c., by Count Fleet, $36,000.—Easy Mark

WELCOME MAT OUT

The H. M. Blakes have recently purchased the Fox View Stables, Oswego, Illinois, from Ted Ilseman and are busy turning it into a hunter and jumper stable. A ring has been completed with a good many diversified jumps, both permanent and movable and an outside hunt course will be built next month.

Being strangers in the vicinity, which makes it rather lonesome at times, the Blakes have brushed and polished their welcome mat and would like all horse lovers and friends to stop in and see them when they are in this area.—V. M. B.

HIGHLAND PINES INN

Fox hunters will have to find new quarters this year at Southern Pines, N. C. if they have been among those people who have enjoyed the hospitality of the Highland Pines Inn. Charles W. Stitzer, Jr., who combined running the Inn and getting in quite a bit of fox hunting, has leased the Inn to the United States Air Force for use as a school where staff and general grade officers will be instructed in air support of ground troops.

RIDING AGAIN

Veteran showman Frank Synder was back in the show ring at the Cayuga County Sportsmen's Assn. Horse Show held last month at Auburn, N. Y. He had a hard fall at the Ithaca show and the Auburn event was his first trip back into the ring since then.—E. McA.

During the polo matches on the Islands Stringer played Dillingham's Blue Sky, Tinian and Luau, all three sired by Tropic Sky.—D. T.

THEY BECOME LEAD PONIES

General Douglas MacArthur really gave the Americans an expression when his now famous speech was concluded with the words, "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away". These words have really made the rounds with some changes and some additions. The latest to come to hand is from Monmouth Park—"Old Thoroughbreds never die. They just become lead ponies". Each morning when the sets leave the Robert Dotter stable, they are headed by the 14-year-old Big Flash. This son of Sweep All chalked up a victorious outing in the $25,000 Hollywood Derby and in the Del Mar Handicap established a new track record of 1.43 for the 1 1-16 miles. He was retired when he bowed but he would have none of it. He lost weight and was literally pining himself to death. Returned to the atmosphere of the race tracks, he is in top shape. The winner of the 1929 Kentucky Derby, Clyde Van Dusen and Tippiy Witchet, the latter the winner of 78 races, were two others which preferred the ranks of the lead ponies to that of green pastures.

BETTER HORSEMANSHIP

In the spring of 1950, a group of the members of the Myopia Hunt met together with the aim of improving both their own riding and the performance of their horses. Captain V. S. Littauer, well-known horseman and author was invited to come to Myopia for a week. It was so rewarding that this June, Captain Littauer was again invited for another week.

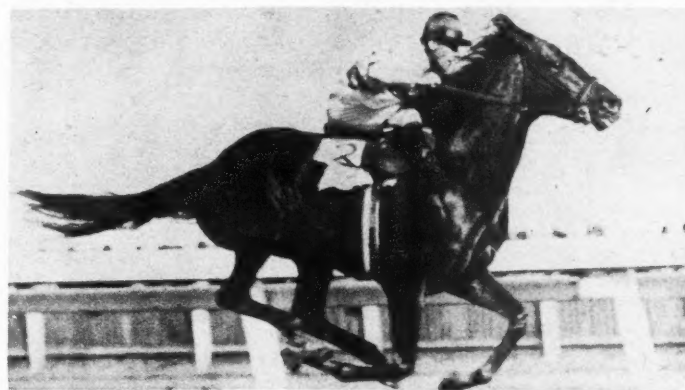

The method of riding presented by Captain Littauer is based on the principle that no truly good performance can be obtained by forcible means, that the horse has to be schooled to perform certain duties, and that the cornerstone of schooling should be the ability of the trainer to find a common language with his horse in order to gain his cooperation. So the main theme of the course is non-abuse of the horse and this, naturally, has appeal for any true horseman.

The emphasis of the two weeks at Myopia was upon the development of better, safer, and more pleasant horses for all phases of hunting, jumping, hacking, and showing. Last year, the group was taken more or less as a whole, showing some of the different ways of making horses, and remarking those that have been spoiled. This year, the emphasis was much more individual. The horse and his rider were taken firstly as a pair that works together, and secondly as individuals. This meant that each individual rider's requirements and the particular aims that he had for his horse were taken into consideration, as well as the ability of each horse, and the extent of his previous schooling.

The results of these two weeks gave this group a very humane, sensible way of schooling their horses, and almost without exception, they accepted it and found that even in so short a time it was producing the desired results.

Interest and enthusiasm were created to such a point that, besides another week of the course next June, plans are underway for an informal, modified Three Day Event in the early Fall, in which the average horse, with the proper schooling can complete the requirements. An elementary schooling program will replace the dressage phase of the Three Day Event. The requirements for the cross-country phase will be modified so that the horse, conditioned for hunting in September, will have no difficulty in completing them. The ring jumping phase will consist mostly of jumps found in hunter classes of the show ring, stressing variety rather than height.

With this sort of schooling of hunters there will be more and more recruits working toward better horsemanship which should be reflected in Myopia's annual show by better performers of both horse and riders.
